

Contents

Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction	1
1 The Varieties of Terrorism	7
Al-Qaeda	10
Terrorism and Counter-Terrorism in the Israeli–Palestinian Conflict	17
Terrorism and Counter-Terrorism and the IRA in Northern Ireland	19
The African National Congress’s Armed Struggle in Apartheid South Africa	20
Terrorism and Counter-Terrorism in India	23
Conclusion	26
2 Defining Terrorism	30
The Definition of Terrorism in Terms of Innocents	36
The Definition of Terrorism in Terms of Non-Combatants	41
Terrorism, Combatants and Authoritarian States	46
The Definition of Terrorism: An Indirect Strategy	50
Conclusion	58
3 Terrorism and Collective Responsibility	60
Moral Justification for the Use of Deadly Force	64
Civilian Immunity and Human Rights Violations	68
Civilian Immunity and Culpable Omissions	75
Terrorism and Non-Violent Rights Violators	79
Conclusion	81

4	Terrorism-as-Crime	83
	Terrorism-as-Crime	84
	Terrorism-as-Crime and Police Institutions	88
	Counter-Terrorism and Human Rights in Liberal
	Democracies at Peace	97
	Freedom of Speech	97
	Shooting to Kill	99
	Right Not to Self-Incriminate	104
	Freedom of Action	104
	Privacy	109
	Conclusion	115
5	Terrorism, War and States of Emergency	117
	Terrorist Attacks, Disasters and States of Emergency	120
	Terrorism, Internal Armed Struggles and Theatres of War	132
	Targeted Killings	139
	Targeted Killings and the Problem of Dirty Hands	145
	Conclusion	150
6	Torture	152
	Definition of Torture	153
	What Is Wrong with Torture?	160
	The Moral Justification for One-Off Acts of Torture
	in Emergencies	163
	The Moral Justification for Legalized and
	Institutionalized Torture	170
	Conclusion	179
7	Bioterrorism and the Dual-Use Dilemma
	(with Michael Selgelid)	181
	The Biological Weapons Convention	186
	Experiments of Concern	187
	Dual-Use Research: The Ethical Issues	189
	Dissemination of Dual-Use Research Results	197
	The Regulation of Dual-Use Research	202
	An Independent Authority	206
	Conclusion	207
	Bibliography	209
	Index	215