

Heathrow Airport

Harriet!

KYAAA!
Sammy!

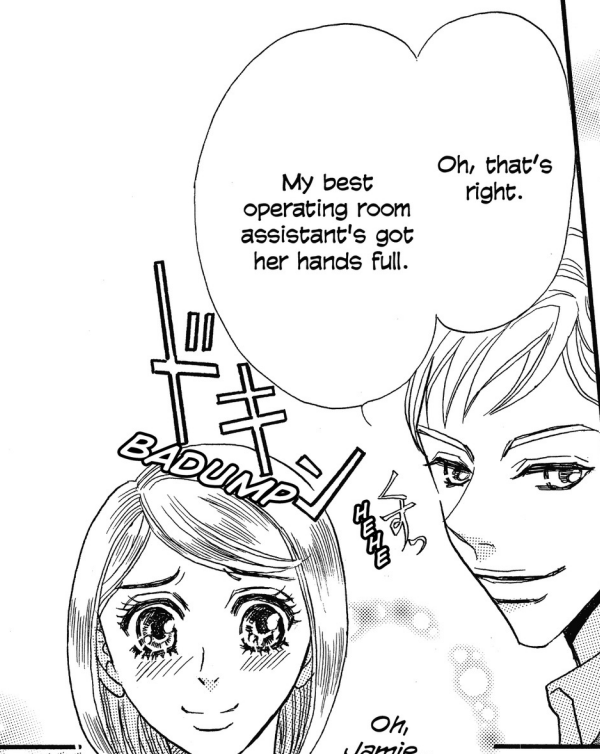

What do you
want from Florida?

Thank you
for sending
us off today,
Verity.

I wish
you both
could come
with us.

My best
operating room
assistant's got
her hands full.

Oh, that's right.

BADUMP!

Oh,
Jamie...

Also, I'm going
to be helping
a new doctor
with his operation this afternoon.

Oh, I wouldn't want everyone
at the hospital
to be talking
about me.

*Jamie Brennan is a consulting physician
at the fertility clinic
of St. John's Hospital,
where I am currently working.*

See you
later!

Well, we'll
be off,
then!

Flight XXX
departing at 9:00
bound for Florida
will begin boarding
soon.

It's been two years since then. Jamie has climbed out of his grief and he's now able to go on vacation with his daughter.

Mommy's gotta go to work now, so you'll stay at Margaret's place, okay?

Hey, Sammy,

But come back quickly, please.

Okay.

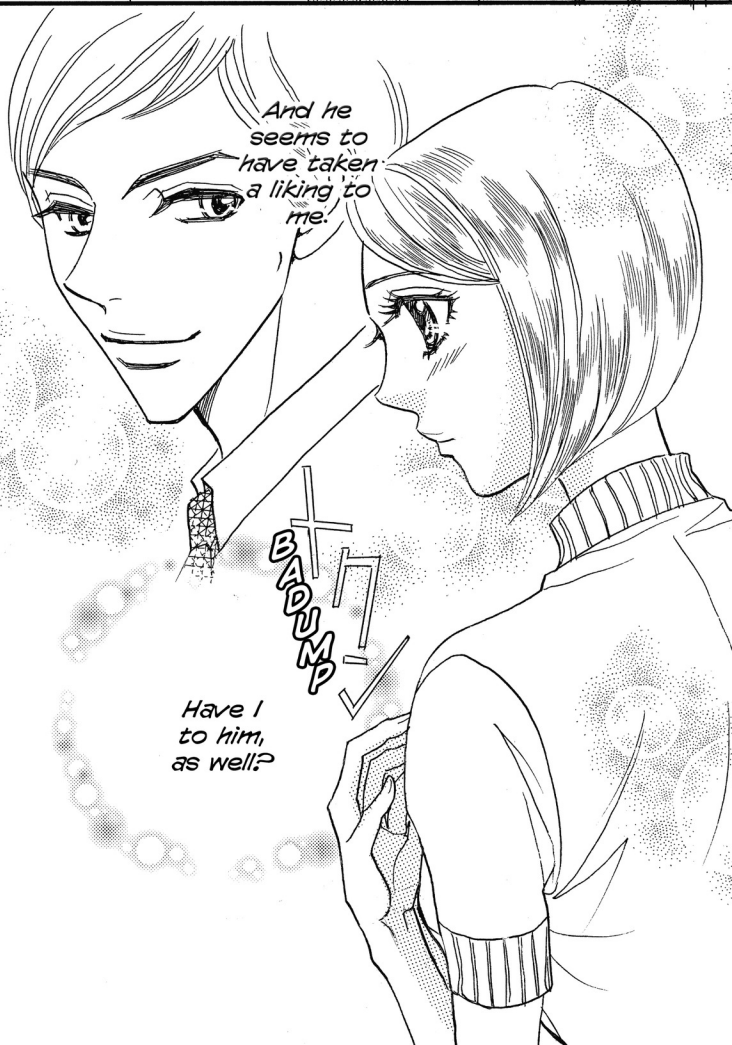

His wife, who passed away, was a really good friend of mine who understood my struggles as a single mother.

I'm going to be late!

Oh, no!

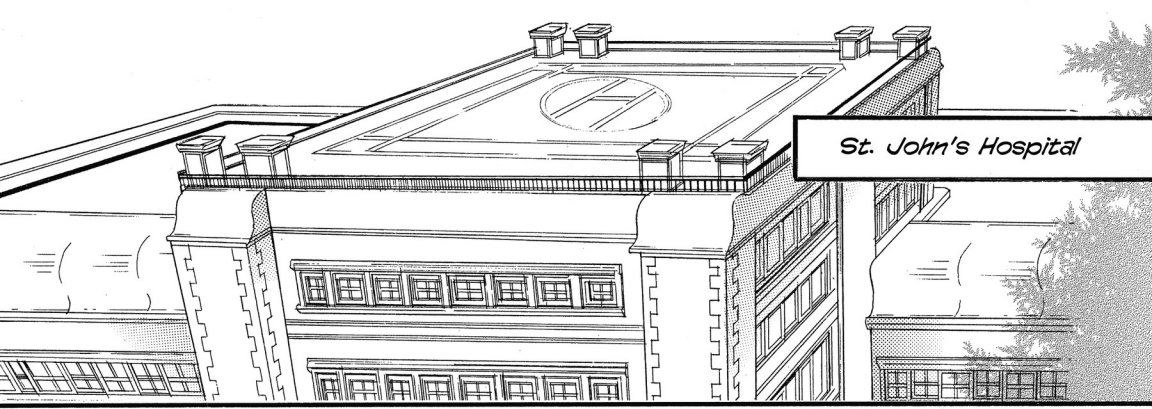

Oh no, Mama! Hurry!

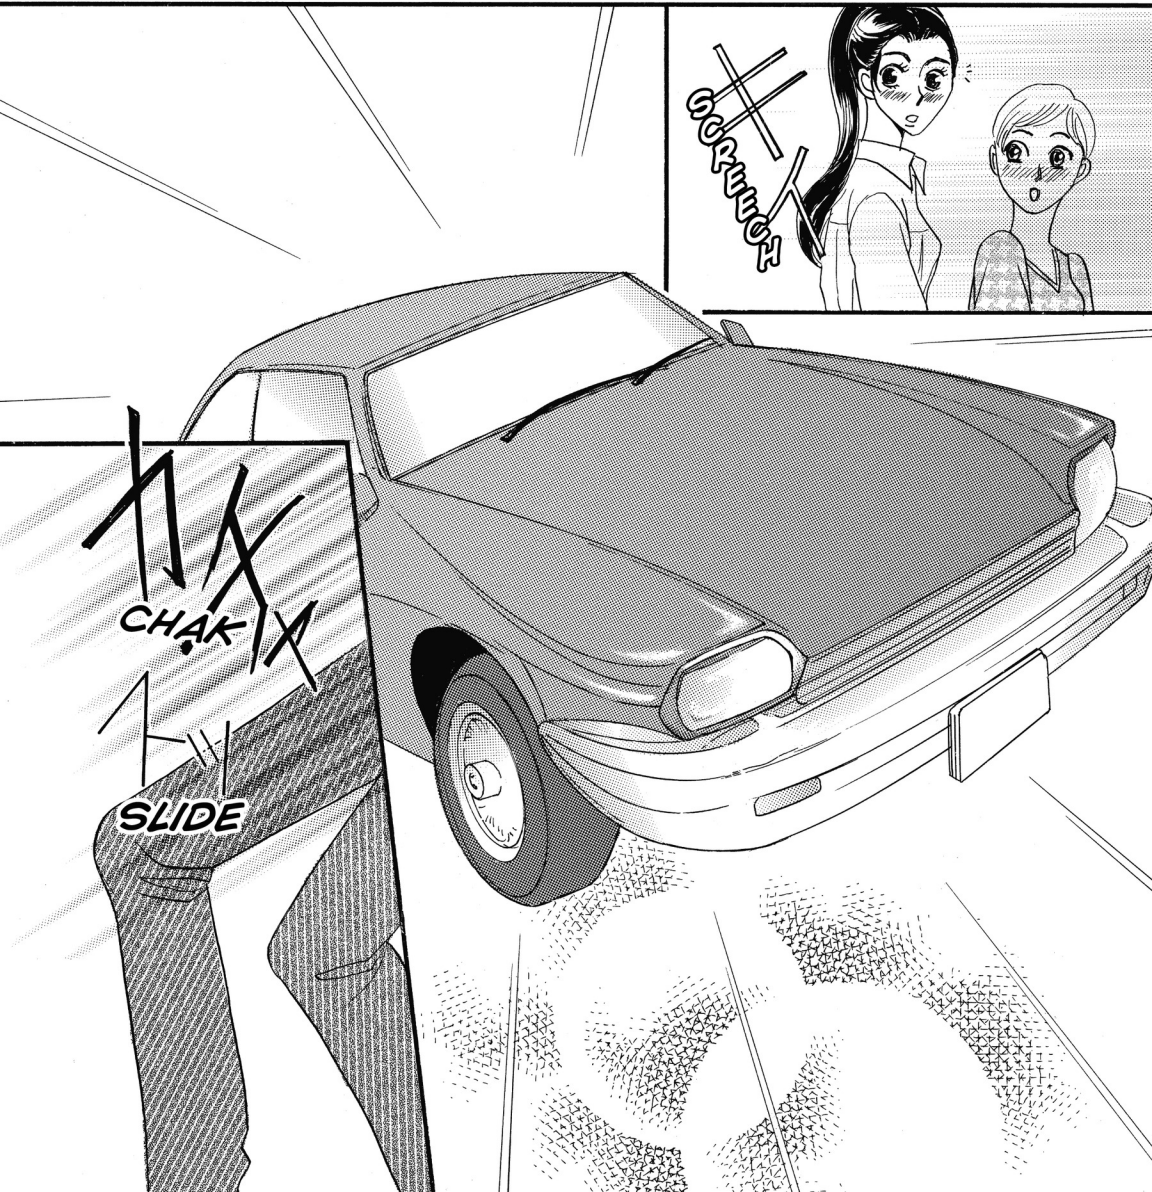

And he seems to have taken a liking to me.

BTADUMP

Have I to him, as well?

He came in a Jaguar.

Did you see that new doctor?

When the nurse's assistant saw Dr. Benedict Jackson for the first time, she almost fainted.

What?

That's enough. Hurry up and get ready, Julia.

He's so tall and handsome.

Did you see how long his legs were?

I'm so lucky to help with today's operation!
